

INFANT RELIEF HOMES ORDERED IN RUSS CITIES

Millions Of Starving Babies
Will Be Fed in This Manner.

U. S. CHIEF HOPE
American Relief Organization Constitutes Soviets Brightest Chance

Riga, Sept. 5.—The soviet government has ordered infant relief homes established in all Russian cities to feed the millions of starving babies in the eleven famine districts. It is estimated that more than 9,000,000 babies are threatened with starvation and that half of them will have to be evacuated from the zones where their parents have been living.

Russia is pinning her chief hope upon the United States and the American relief organization. Already efficient assistance is being given in some quarters by the receipt of ten provision trains at Moscow ten new baker-ies were opened and the bread was given away free of charge without even a bread card. The free distribution caused the price in the Russian bakeries to fall from 4,000 to 2,000 rubles per pound.

The soviet government is making every effort to give financial and material help independent of the assistance from abroad. All the Russian cities and especially Moscow are arranging charity festivities for the famine sufferers in the Volga region.
Renowned artists are taking part and already several millions of rubles have been collected.

For the first time in four years horse racing will be resumed on the famous Chodynka course where at the coronation of the czar 30 years ago several thousands of people were crushed to death. Fifteen race meets will be run off this month. All the proceeds going to the starving Russians.
The entrance fee is 10,000 soviet rubles.

All the manufacturers in Russia are sacrificing one day's production for relief purposes. Trains with cinema-graphs are touring the country making moving pictures and giving turned over to the starving.

The famous Russian singer Chaliapin said he would send back most of the proceeds from his concert to the Russian relief fund.

The misery is so extreme and widespread that all of the efforts of the soviet cover but five percent of the total relief needed.

At the last meeting of the Moscow council, Leon Trotsky informed the members that the soviet had succeeded in furnishing the Volga district with 100,000 tons of corn seed.

ISSUE IS TAKEN BY BRAND OVER DAVIS STATEMENT

Columbus, O., Sept. 5.—Direct issue Sunday was taken by Senator Charles Brand of Urbana, Republican, to the statement made by Governor Harry L. Davis in a message to Secretary Herbert C. Hoover, of the Commerce Department, in regard to unemployment.

He spoke of the Governor's attitude as "a determination to award hard-surface road contracts, despite high prices," and referred to the expression as being one "by high authority" then he asked:

"Why not put labor to work on gravel and stone roads, where the money goes to labor, and a road that will not bankrupt the counties of the state?"

"Why fill the pockets of the silk hat crowd out of the public treasury on the pretense of helping labor?"

With that portion of the executive statement in which mention is made of employing men building ditches along highways, Senator Brand says he is in complete sympathy, but he pointed out that while the state was waiting for reduction in freight rates, little could be accomplished before winter arrived and hard surface road building were stopped.

TWO ARRESTED IN RAID ON SUNDAY

Otto Lees, 39, proprietor of the Interurban Restaurant and rooming house on North Detroit street, and Mary With, 37, waitress in the restaurant, were arrested by Patrolman Jones, Simms and Pritchard in a raid on the place conducted at three o'clock Sunday morning.

Charges of loitering were placed against them on police state pleading the hearing before Police Judge E. Dawson Smith in Police Court Tuesday morning, there being no court held Monday. Two quarts of Whiskey confiscated by the officers will be used as evidence in the case, it is said.

Holy War Proclaimed By King of Hedjaz.

Reports from Angora, Anatolia, state that a holy war has been proclaimed by Hussein Tow Ali, aged King of Hedjaz as a measure of helping the Turkish Nationalists in their fight against the Greeks in Asia Minor. The monarch in his call appeals for the saving of Islam. Hedjaz proclaimed her independence from Turkey during the war.

INCREASE SHOWN IN EMPLOYMENT DURING AUGUST

Worst Over General Opinion of Business Men It Is Indicated.

Washington, Sept. 5.—An increase of 1.08 per cent in the number of persons employed in 65 principal industrial centers in August, as compared with July, was shown by statistics made public Sunday by the department of labor. The figures were taken from the pay rolls of 1428 firms each usually employing 500 or more persons.

Industrial classifications showed that increases occurred in the number employed in food and food products, textiles, leather and its finished products, stone, clay and glass products, metals and products other than the iron and steel, tobacco manufactures and railroad classifications show decreases.

While it is true that the country has "at last definitely set out on the long uphill climb to normal conditions," the statement said, "it would be a mistake to imbue the figures with a significance not strictly in accordance with facts. It must be borne in mind that the improvement shown can be traced, in great measure, to the vast agricultural activities and that as yet the major manufacturing, mining and transportation interests have given less conclusive evidence of the value and permanency of such small gains as they may have experienced.

"A happy augury is the very general increase in building operations, the survey showing that present activities in this line are greater than at any time since the nation entered
the war."

Other encouraging features pointed out by the statement were the bountiful harvest, indications of improvement in iron and steel, marked re-employment in railroad occupations the approaching depletion of manufactured stocks, and continued strength of textiles, particularly of cotton.

Business men generally, the statement continued, are inclined to the belief that the worst of the slump is over and that the future will witness improvements of a healthy and lasting character, "even though it be somewhat slow in developing."

OIL OPERATIONS TO RESUME NOW

Mexico City, Sept. 5.—Immediate resumption of oil operations in the Tampico region by American petroleum companies and the payment of postponed taxes, with the lifting of the Government embargo upon the company's funds and oil in storage, will result from the agreement reached by Government officials and the heads of five American oil concerns, it was announced Sunday.

There will be an immediate movement of oil from Mexico and, after minor details have been adjusted a settlement will be reached of all the great petroleum problems which have vexed the Mexican Government and American development companies for years.

FIRES SPREADING

St. Paul, Minn., September 5.— Reports of fires from several localities in the northern part of the State, which have assumed threatening proportions, caused W. T.
Cox, State Forester, to leave for McGrath late Sunday. The most serious fire is in a jackpine swamp at Solona, in Aitkin County. In the vicinity of Brainerd Bog, fires have communicated to jackpine causing a threatening situation.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS IN ISLES IMPERILLED

IRISH STATUS NOW ADMITTED TO BE GRAVE

Rejection of English Proposals Continued In Late Note

LEADERS ADAMANT
Negotiations May Be Called Off Following Stand of Sinn Fein

London, Sept. 5.—Irish peace negotiations are dangerously imperilled today. Following the publication of the Sinn Fein note of Thursday reiterating rejection of English proposals it is one of the utmost gravity. In view of the recent utterances of Premier Lloyd George it may be impossible to continue the negotiations if the Sinn Fein persists in its present stand and refuses to accept the basis laid down by the English government.

Publication of Eamonn DeValera's note shattered reports current Friday and Saturday that the communication was conciliatory in tone and offered concessions. DeValera said that the Sinn Fein was ready to enter into actual peace negotiations through the medium of plenipotentiaries but only upon the basis of "government by the consent of the governed." The Irish president again declared that the English offer does not give Ireland dominion status.

Sir Neville MacCreedy, commander of the British military forces in Ireland, and Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland in the British cabinet, are at Gairloch, Scotland, consulting with Premier Lloyd George. The British cabinet will meet at Inverness, near Gairloch on Wednesday to discuss the Irish communication formally and draw up a reply. In the meantime, however, informal conversations will continue for the drafting of a preliminary outline of the answer.

"It is hoped that the Irish reply will lead to a resumption of personal negotiations," said the Daily Herald, organ of the British labor party.

The Daily Express says that Premier Lloyd George may set a time limit for acceptance of the principle of the English offer by South Ireland.

"DeValera's reply is not a rejection," is the view taken by the Daily Mail. "Like his previous letter the communication begins with defiance" but ends with a plea. Both countries want peace. The door to a peace conference is still open, but DeValera is still banging at it. It is time for him to walk in and talk business."

MAN KILLED BY
GANG OF BANDITS

Cleveland, Sept. 5.—Albert Winter, 23, a chemical worker, was shot and killed when he attempted to battle four robbers one a woman, who attacked him and a companion in an alley.

Winters struck at the man nearest him. He missed his mark and abulet from the gunman's revolver crashed through his heart. He died almost instantly.

TWO MEET DEATH AND TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Interurban Car Crashes
Into Automobile In Indiana.

Jeffersonville, Ind., September 5.— Two men were killed and two were injured when an interurban car, bound for New Albany, crashed into an automobile early Sunday. The dead:

Charles E. Enlow, 48 years old, cutter at the United States Quartermaster's Depot, this city, skull fractured.

Frank Dick, 55, foreman for a gas company, skull fractured.

The injured:

Walter Dorsey 46, engineer at the Government. epot, shoulder broken and spine injured, but will recover.

John Lloyd, soft drink seller, severely bruised, but will recover.

Patrick Keenan, employed at the Government Depot, jumped from the machine and escaped injury.

All reside in Jeffersonville.

Mr. orsey, owner of the machine, who was at the wheel, attempted to pass another car, as both were bound southward, on Spring street, between Seventh and Eighth streets. It is believed that he failed to see the interurban car, which was approaching on the northbound track, and that his machine, skidded, the rear end being thrown in front of the interurban car, which did not have time to stop.

Enlow and Dick were taken to a New Albany hospital and Dorsey was taken to his home. Enlow died later.
Dick's skull was fractured and he was placed on an operating table.
He died at 9 o'clock this morning, shortly after being removed from the operating room.

WAY FOR GERMANY TO RECOVER NOW POINTED OUT AGAIN

Berlin, Sept. 5.—Profits made on depreciated United States Federal bonds after the Civil War gave Germany the financial start for her wide industrial expansion, according to Berthold Arons, of the Berlin banking house of Arons & Walters.

The beginning of my banking career, which dates back to 1866, was occupied with Germany's purchase and sale of American bonds," declared Mr. Arons to the International News Service. "At that time immediately after the Civil War, the Confederate bonds were worthless and the Northern States' paper money had depreciated to a rate of between 30 and 40 cents to the gold standard.

"Berlin cleared between four and five million dollars' worth of business daily and all the available savings of private investors went into North American securities at these very low prices. The 6 per cent bonds bought below 40 were sold as high as 105. The tremendous profits were the foundations of some of Germany's largest enterprises today.

"Conditions are reversed today;
we must sell our securities to America at a very low rate. America has the world's money; only America can make us the loan which will be necessary to stabilize the mark and put Germany on a sound basis.

Mary Miles Minter did not go to Paris for a trousseau. Though five suits are at the blonde beauty's tiny feet, she insists she has not accepted even one of them. Looking just as winsome, just as wistful on the street in her new French frock as she does on the screen in knee skirts, Miss Minter says she reserving her affection for an American whom she has not found.

M. E. CONFERENCE TO RETURN DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS

Bellefontaine, Sept. 5.—Beyond the fact that the nine district superintendents are to be appointed, Bishop Luther Wilson presiding at the west Ohio conference of the Methodist church is permitting nothing else to be known as to the assignments he will make tomorrow.

The district superintendents who will be returned are: W. McK.
Brackney, Delaware; W. A. Wiant,
Springfield; J. F. Olive, Defiance;
W. H. Wehrly, Cincinnati; W. J.
Dunham, Dayton; M. E. Ketcham,
Hillsboro; D. F. Helms, Lima; C.
C. Peale, Findlay; E. S. Weaver, Toledo.

Young men who passed the examination as elders were ordained today and will be assigned to pastorates tomorrow are: L. B. Kennard, C. L. Bassard, J. W. Van Grundy, Charles N. Fisher, Ernest
D. Barker, C. W. Sultzach, Harley
J. Moore, George W. Ely. Visiting preachers filled the pulpits at all of the Protestant churches in the city today.

FORCES OF GREEKS ENTERING ANGORA

Paris, Sept. 5.—A delegation of Greeks entered Angora Sunday, said a dispatch from Constantinople today.

Dispatches from Athens said that the Greek army was approaching Angora, but had not penetrated the city. It is probable that the Greek delegation consisted of Greek officers who wished to arrange for the surrender and occupation of the city without fighting or bombarding.

INFANT DIES

Robert Barton Davidson, the four-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Davidson, of the Mooreland Apartments, on West Main street, died at the parents home, at 1:15 Saturday afternoon, death being caused by summer complaint. The child had been ill for the past five weeks.

The child is survived by his parents, and two sisters, Dorothy and Phyllis and one brother, Scotty. Mr.
Davidson is secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club.

Funeral services will be held at the Mooreland Apartment, at 3:30 Monday afternoon, in charge of Rev.
William H. Tilford of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be made at Woodland cemetery.

HOLD FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Rebecca Randall, 90, who died Saturday afternoon, at the home of her son, G. E.
Randall, at 703 Salem Ave., Dayton, will be conducted Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the residence of her son. Burial will be made in the Waynesville cemetery.

Mrs. Randall has been a resident of Dayton for the past 20 years, making her home with her son, when she came from Waynesville. Mr. Randall is a former Xenian, being employed at the Hutchison & Gibney store a number of years ago.

WEST VIRGINIA WAR IS ENDED; SECTION QUIET

May Withdraw 26th Infantry It Is Now Believed

NO CLASHES OCCUR
Martial Law Will Likely
Not be Necessary in Mine Field

Washington, Sept. 5.—West Virginia's war is ended today, according to the opinion of officials here based on reports from General Band-holtz, representative of the president in command of the federal forces in the Mingo trouble zone.

General Bandholtz was today to make a tour of personal inspection through the "battle area" and advised the war department that if he found conditions as quiet as yesterday that he would recommend the withdrawal of the 26th infantry. The 19th infantry, it is understood will be kept in West Virginia for some time yet as a measure of protection against new outbreaks.

Particular attention will be paid by General Bandholtz today to reports of constant firing along the Tug river near Williamson, W. Va., an area that has hitherto been counted out of the war zone.

General Bandholtz has advised Secretary Weeks that he doubts the necessity of the issuance of a proclamation of martial law.

There have been no clashes between the federal forces and the armed miners, the war department was advised. Not a shot was fired by the troops. The miners have surrendered peacefully, in many instances giving up their arms and returning to their homes on trains furnished by the military commanders. Disposition of the troops has not been made public by the war department but it is understood that they have completely replaced the state and civil forces on the "battle line."

Officials are fearful today that five casualties will have to be counted by the army in the present outbreak. Five men of the army of the flying corps are lost and doubt was expressed today as to the safety of the men.

The flyers were in a big Martin plane that is reported to have been caught in an electrical storm while reconnoitering over West Virginia on Saturday and forced down. Army fliers and scouts sent through the mountain sides have been unable to find even the wreckage of the plane and no report has come from any of the members of the crew.

The plane was piloted by Lieut. Speck and carried Lieut. Fitzpatrick, observer, Corporal Hazelton and Brown and Private Howard.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 5.—The United States troops were in full control of the sanguinary Logan-Boone industrial battle area today.

It was expected steps would be taken at once to disarm all persons in the war zone with the exception of legally constituted officers of the law.

No more trouble is anticipated as long as federal forces remain.

What will occur when the troops leave is a matter of speculation.

Demand is being made on the state and federal governments from all parts of West Virginia that steps be taken that the repetition of the industrial war will be impossible.

According to information here,
Governor Morgan has promised prosecution of the insurrectionists by co-operation with the county governments. The chief grand jury investigation would be in Boone county.

A close watch is being kept on the situation today as labor day was regarded as a danger time.

An investigation to determine where the miners army got their supply of high powered rifles, machine guns and ammunition is expected to involve interests beyond the borders of West Virginia. The equipment of the mine army and the financing of the drive through Boone county cost an enormous sum of money.

The government would like to know where this money came from.

LEAGUE TO WORK FOR DISARMAMENT

Geneva, Sept. 5.—The league of nations will work for world disarmament notwithstanding the disarmament conference that President Harding has called in Washington, it was announced when the league assembled here today. Announcement was made by Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to England, and president of the league council, when delivering the opening speech.

SEES D'ANNUNZIO

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 5.—Reconsidering published reports that she would never see Gabrielle d'Annunzio again, following his march on Fiume Queen Margherite of Italy, accompanied by the King, invited the poet into the royal staid Sunday during the airplane and automobile race meeting here. Ralph De Palma, American driver, is competing in a French motor car.

DOWNY TO MEET WILSON MONDAY

Jersey City, Sept. 5.—Johnny Wilson and Bryan Downy were ready today to settle the much mooted question of supremacy in the middleweight division.

The Charleston battler holder of Tex Rickard's diamond studded belt emblematic of the 160 pound championship and his rugged Cleveland rival were slated to come together in a 12 round bout in Rickard's big state arena on Boyle's Thirty Acres where Dempsy and Carpenter staged their international affair.

Both were in fine physical trim and confident of a decisive victory and their pre battle predictions of a knock out within five rounds indicated that each was determined to go after his rival hammer and tongs from the first bell. The articles called for 160 pounds at 10 o'clock and ring-side appearance at 4 p. m. eastern daylight saving time.

President Harding's Labor Day Greeting

THE Gazette and Republican, through the Newspaper Enterprise Association, requested President Harding to send to the people of Xenia a Labor Day message. The president has complied with the accompanying telegram.

THE WHITE HOUSE, Washington, Sept. 5.—It makes no undue demand on optimism to extend a cheerful and confident greeting to the American people on Labor Day of this year. Conditions are improving and there is every indication that they will continue to do so. They have recognized that they must get back to hard work and useful production and with their wonted good sense have accepted the situation. The administration has undertaken to give every possible encouragement and assistance and will continue, without wearying, to seek out and apply the measures calculated to help people so generously willing to help themselves.

HENRY CLEWS

Weekly Financial Review

Nek York, September 5, 1921.

Adjournment of Congress for four weeks has set a period of the immediate prospects of legislation. Failure to enact the railroad relief legislation and inability to bring the tax bill to a definite stage of development are the outstanding points of regret among the business community. It seems, however, reasonably certain that both matters will be attended to at no distant date after the reassembling. Steadier attention can doubtless be given to the details of pending measures during the recess. If so, nothing will be lost by the postponement. While more or less of a formality, the fact that Germany has now finally signed a treaty of peace removes another uncertain factor from the situation and ought to have a favorable effect on sentiment.

Improvement of Railroad Earnings. That the railroads have at last definitely started upon a movement toward better things has been evident for some weeks past. Earnings reports made public during the past few days again confirm the views previously entertained on that subject, and the same opinion is indicated by reports of traffic movements. Despite, therefore, some setbacks which have been suffered by the railroad issues in consequence of the unexpected postponement of the refunding bill future of the securities remains unchanged, or, if anything, has been strengthened. A cloud on the horizon is seen in the apparently hostile disposition of the American Federation of Labor in respect to the readjustment of labor costs, particularly as affects the railroads. This is a situation which must eventually be worked out during the coming months.

TRADE READJUSTMENT Price indexes indicate quite clearly that, so far as money values of commodities are concerned, the general readjustment movement is about over. What remains to be done is an equalization of prices among themselves, some of them being evidently out of line with the general average. This, however, is not likely to be long deferred. Meantime, further industrial dividend suspensions show that there are still postponed results of the depression which have not yet fully exhibited their influence and are still to be developed, while in the same group of factors are to be mentioned the poor statements made public during the past week by the copper companies. Most of these long ago suspended dividends but their overhead charges and fixed expenses continue, and the operating results of the past quarter show that they have been running still further behind with thus far no definite prospects of improvement. In the steel trade, slightly better prospects may prevent the industry from reaching the same depth of depression as the non-ferrous metals. It still remains true that the most hopeful symptoms in the present situation are found in the manufacture of textiles shoes and other immediately consumable commodities. In those a satisfactory autumn trade is now confidently predicted.

HELPING THE FARMER Passage by Congress of the Agricultural Credits bill definitely brings to a practical stage the plans for furthering the exportation of farm products by Government financial assistance. Under the new measure, the War Finance Corporation may make loans either to Americans or foreigners on the strength of collateral consisting of securities or products of known value, which however, must be within the United States. This greatly broadens the powers of the War Finance Corporation, and since it is permitted to do business with banks really converts it into a kind of central banking institution with restricted powers or field of work. Belief that this and allied measures may materially assist the movement of American goods to foreign countries has been influential in holding up foreign exchange quotations which might otherwise have gone to lower levels. How far the farmer himself will be actually aided by the new bill may be questioned, but if operations under it should be active it may easily serve to strengthen the course of foreign exchange. On the other hand, continued speculation in marks and other currencies has tended to render exchange quotations very unreliable and feverish. The impression grows stronger in many quarters that Germany at least must soon take some decisive measures with a view to the settling of the status of her currency—this to involve, perhaps, a revaluation of the mark.

CREDIT STRAIN RELIEVED Events have shown that the severity of the credit strain in many parts of the country is less than had been expected. Not only has the smallness of the cotton crop and the relatively smaller value of some other crops tended in this direction, but there has been an unusually early movement of products to market for cash. In consequence, the demands of borrowers upon the banks in the agricultural regions are less intense than had been expected—a fact which is reflected in the diminishing volume of bills held by Federal Reserve Banks, which is now only $1,530,560,000, a decline of nearly 50 per cent from the level of a year ago. Bankers report funds returning from the interior already and there is indication that they are being more freely supplied to borrowers on collateral.

MARKET REVIEW AND OUTLOOK

Psychologically speaking, much of the news of the week, although indicating no fresh developments of broad general significance, has been rather discouraging, but, as demonstrated on many occasions, when any fair amount of buying orders put in an appearance it is found that there is a paucity of offerings. While so much uncertainty exists in certain industrial directions buying by the general public cannot be expected to assume large proportions and, no doubt, as accounts become weakened some further scattered liquidations may be counted upon. Nevertheless, it can be assumed that the great run of stocks has now reached levels which are making them attractive to those on the inside who are in a position to know what the real book values are.

FOUR WIVES SOLD BY ESKIMO, CHEAP

The Pas, Man., Sept. 5.—What is the commercial value of a beautiful wife. The question has divided learned jurists through the ages. Court records of divorce cases throw no light on the question.

But Eskimoland has its own fixed rules. Take John Littlebear, for instance; John is a trapper. He resides in the frozen stretches to the north of the Brochet fur post. John recently disposed of four wives in twelve days. All being especially beautiful, he received the top market price. Each wife brought one pound of tea and two plugs of tobacco.

"Dropping off ballast," was John's laconic explanation to interpreters. The trip had been longer than anticipated. John had promised his full set of wives their annual outing but supplies ran short. There was a glut of wives and not a leaf of tea or tobacco. One by one the dutiful wives were dropped.

Purchasers, reports say, were few tribesmen returning from the fur post heavily laden with supplies. They had long admired John's handsome wives and were ready bidders. But under the rigid unwritten laws of Eskimoland the original owner may redeem his wives by payment of double the purchase price. En route home John will recover his property even at the risk of shattering new romances.

SEE GREATER ATTENDANCE

Defiance, Sept. 5.—The new law requiring all children under 16 year of age to attend school, together with the closing of many local shops, due to the industrial depression, will boost attendance in high schools as well as colleges, according to E. W. Howe, superintendent of schools here. He said 450 pupils will enroll in the Defiance high school.

NEVER HEARD OF HIM

Boston.—"Babe" Ruth's fame as King of Swat is not as widespread as some people imagine. Frank Doherty, of Allston, a ball player of note himself, found that out when he picked up a passenger who turned out to be a sailor. The mariner mentioned the fact that he was "a graduate" of the reform school. "Don't let that worry you," said Doherty, "so is 'Babe' Ruth."

TAX RATE LOWER

Findlay, Sept. 5.—Findlay's tax rate for next year will be lower than that of last year as a result of receipt of large amounts by the city in the form of inheritance taxes upon stock of the Ohio Oil and Illinois Pipe line companies, general officers of which are located here, county tax officials said today. Last year's rate was 14.4 mills, one of the lowest in the state, for cities.

The NEW EDISON

Muzio the magnificent; the enchantress of the Metropolitan; idolized by London, Paris, Madrid, Milan, Buenos Aires and New York—such is Muzio. Behind the mysterious curtain, which screens the recording secrets of Edison, her divine voice is perpetuated, in every phase of its unsurpassed beauty.

Edison, the severest of all music critics, listens intently and is pleased with Muzio.

Bamboschek, principal conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, listened to Muzio sing in comparison with the New Edison's RE-CREATION of her voice, and the following is his signed verdict:

"I have heard a comparison between Miss Claudia Muzio's voice and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. I consider that the quality of Miss Muzio's living voice and the quality of her RE-CREATION voice are identical."

The New Edison is positively the only phonograph that can sustain the test of direct comparison with living artists.

In the home, no matter where that home may be, Edison's new invention gives you the world's best music, just as it is heard in the operatic capitals of both hemispheres. The New Edison is the complete answer to Emerson's wish: "Could I only have music on my own terms, whenever I wished the ablation and inundation of musical waves, that are a bath and a medicine."

—the above is only half of it!

It proves that the New Edison brings the real artist—and the real opera to your home. It establishes, beyond doubt or conjecture, that the New Edison is the only instrumentality by which the full beauties of true music can be enjoyed in every home. Now comes a plan by which you can benefit from good music beyond mere entertainment—Mood Music.

It Banishes Unpleasant Moods!

Mood Music helps you control your mental and physical well-being. It soothes you when you are nervous. Refreshes you when tired. Cheers you when sad. In a 32 page booklet, this wonderful new way of using music is fully described and over 100 selections are classified according to the effects they produce upon a listener. Fill out the coupon and get your copy of the booklet, "Mood Music".

3 Days of Mood Music Free!

If you do not own a New Edison, we will gladly loan you one on three days' free trial—so you can learn what Mood Music and the New Edison will do for you.

About Mood Music

Mood Music is the result of a two year research by Mr. Edison into the effects of Music. The psychological work was under the direction of Dr. W. V. Bingham, Director of Applied Psychology, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and other psychologists. The remarkable discoveries, which they made through countless experiments, are now in booklet form for your practical use.

DID MORE THAN I EXPECTED OF IT

Akron Citizen Says He Now Knows What Good Health Is Since Taking Tanlac.

"I never felt better in my life even when I was a boy than I do now, and I give full credit to Tanlac for putting me in such great shape," said Charles H. Ammon, 327 Union Place, Akron, Ohio.

"I know what good health means now," he went on, "for I have been troubled in one way and another for four years. My stomach gave me all sorts of trouble and I had to be particular about everything I ate. Why, at supper if I ventured beyond my limited diet I would be in misery all night long. My nerves were all on edge, and many a time while out on the streets I would turn dizzy all of a sudden and reel and stagger every step I took until I could catch hold of something."

"I never struck anything that fit my case until I got hold of Tanlac, and the way it straightened me out was more than I expected. I feel like I've been made all over again through and through. My appetite is fine and my stomach trouble is a thing of the past. I am now sixty-seven years old but don't believe there is any man of my age who can boast of better health. Tanlac is a great medicine—there is no doubt in the world about that."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill and good druggists everywhere.

BANK OF NATIONS AS PANACEA FOR FINANCIAL ILLS

Washington.—A Bank of Nations is being urged upon Congress by Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, ranking Democratic member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and millionaire newspaper publisher, as a panacea for the international financial jam in which the wide, wide world is caught just now.

Hitchcock has sponsored a bill for the establishment of the Bank of Nations at New York City, with branch offices in this and other countries. He would incorporate it as an international banking institution with capital stock of $2,400,000,000 divided into 240,000 shares of $10,000 each.

Sounds like a financial pipe dream but Hitchcock insists that some kind of an international Reserve banking system is the only practical way to end the perilous fluctuation of exchange values and the dangerous piling up of "frozen credits" now troubling the world's financiers.

"Everyone recognizes that there exists in the United States and other countries at the present time a great demoralization of business, a high rate of unemployment and a general unprofitable condition in all lines of trade," Hitchcock said. "International commerce is almost in a state of collapse. The United States has an enormous surplus of products and many nations are unable to buy them."

Two causes may be given, in Hitchcock's judgment, for these conditions more than any others:

1. The unstable condition of international exchange which has fluctuated so violently during the last two years that it has made exporting and importing a dangerous gamble and has ruined hundreds of firms attempting international commerce.

2. The exhaustion of international credit due to the enormous balance of trade which was not paid for in products and could not be paid for in gold. Attempts by private concerns to supply this credit have only resulted in the exhaustion of their resources.

Hitchcock believes that such conditions can be remedied by the establishment of an entirely new international agency to stabilize international exchange and to foster an international credit system.

"Inasmuch as the United States now holds more than one-half of all the gold of the world, which it is not using, and inasmuch as the United States has become the great creditor of the world," Hitchcock said, "no effort to restore commerce, to stabilize exchange and to establish credit can be made unless the United States takes the lead."

"I therefore propose the Bank of Nations. I would give the United States the controlling interest in it. I would have $1,500,000,000 of its stock taken over by the United States and $200,000,000 more sold to American banks and bankers, exporters and importers interested in foreign commerce and the remaining $300,000,000 sold to foreign governments."

"The Bank of Nations would be large enough and powerful enough to put an end to the pirated speculation which has been going on in international exchange and which has made commerce next to impossible. It would also be powerful enough to establish a legitimate international credit to promote commerce between the nations, particularly with respect to great exportable surplus products of the United States to Europe."

Would Issue Own Notes. "To give the bank power to be used in discounting bills of exchange, buying and selling government securities, including Treasury certificates, and making loans to exporters and importers. I would empower it to issue its own banknotes or currency, protected by an adequate reserve of gold and Government bonds."

"This power to issue currency would develop an enormous possibility of credit, and I believe this currency, which would be on a gold basis would soon be in strong demand for use in other countries and for international shipment. In other words, the great store of gold in the United States—one-half of all the gold available in the entire world—would not be diminished, but would remain largely here, while the currency of the bank would be used to facilitate international commerce."

"Other nations are struggling desperately to keep enough gold within their borders to make a respectable cover for their currency. The Bank of Nations would make it possible to use this gold as a basis for an international currency which could be used in international commerce and for its facilitation."

"We have in this country abundant credit facilities, but international commerce practically has none. The bank I propose would create a system of international credit and would be able to extend this credit over a year's time so that the raw materials purchased from the United States could be made into the finished product and sent to the markets before the maturity of the paper which was created at the time the products were exported."

FESTIVAL CLOSES SATURDAY NIGHT IN HEAVY RAIN

In an outburst of rain, rather than a blaze of glory, Xenia's fall festival, presented here last week by the Festival Production Company of Chillicothe under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, came to a close, Saturday night.

Rain that night have held off another hour and permitted late crowds to find shelter, came on before the crowds had started to depart and in a few minutes had played havoc with the pleasure seekers and festival decorations. Places of shelter were inadequate for the large number of people and many were drenched in the heavy rain that fell.

Although the rain prevented Marvellous Mills from doing his final high-wire walking act, it fortunately came late enough in the evening, not to spoil the entire festival. The Saturday crowd was probably the largest of the week, in spite of the bad weather Saturday morning, and the people entered fully into the carnival spirit that pervaded the final festival night.

The "Bill Club" parade, scheduled for Saturday afternoon, did not materialize, the "Bills" failing to show up. However a parade was not necessary to keep the people interested. The crowd, Saturday was mostly a new one, many making their first visit to the festival and they found plenty to interest them in the big show. Slide shows and attractions were well patronized, especially Saturday night, when the "Over the Falls" attraction was busy constantly taking care of a huge stream of people. Other attractions enjoyed similar popularity and the crowd showed itself to be free at spending.

Down town streets were so packed Saturday night that walking with any degree of comfort was impossible. Booths along the midway, that made a business of selling products, were sold out before the night was over and before the rain had come to end the festival.

Shortly after eleven o'clock, the Greene County Automobile Club gave a Ford Sedan to Carl Schardt, Bellebrook avenue, the announcement being made from the platform in front of the Court House. Mr. Schardt drove home in the car which has attracted attention in downtown streets and all parades since the festival opening.

Saturday night was Mardi Gras night, but few people took advantage of the opportunity to masquerade in the parade. There was a parade of about fifty people in masquerade costume, headed by the festival band, but because of lack of interest in the masking program, no prizes were awarded.

As soon as the rain sent pedestrians scurrying for shelter, the workmen of the Festival Production Company began tearing down the booths for shipment to Greenfield where the festival is being staged this week. By midnight much of the festival equipment had been razed and before morning, there were only a few reminders that there was a festival here last week.

True to the agreement, the Company removed practically all vestige of the festival before Monday morning, and only the board floors put in their booths by merchants which were not the property of the Festival Company, remained as reminders. Secretary F. J. Slackford of the Chamber of Commerce remained up all night to see that the Company fulfilled its contract regarding cleaning up the city, but found nothing to complain of. In the way the workmen, although hindered by the rain, got the equipment out of the way before the break of day, Sunday.

The Festival Production Company not only furnished all booths, and labor in putting them up, all electricity used and the wiring necessary to light the booths, all prize money given away for the different parades, but also all the work of cleaning up the city after the festival and all police protection during the big event. Extra policemen added by the city were paid for by the company and it was the opinion of citizens that a more orderly and cleaner festival was never held here.

The sentiment of merchants regarding the festival, seems to indicate that a similar festival will be held next year, if the Festival Company can be persuaded to return. The expenses of the Company for one week run between $4,500 and $5,000, according to Frank E. Aid, one of the officers of the company. Merchants here only subscribed for 860 feet of booth space at $2 a foot and despite the percentage on the attractions, the Company lost considerable money during the week, Aid said. It is anticipated that the success of the festival as an advertising feature for the city will insure that more booth space will be sold should the company agree to return next year.

DEATH CLAIMS CHILD

Warren H. Price, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Price of South Galloway street died Saturday night at 10:50 o'clock, after an illness of four weeks, suffering from malnutrition. The child was born April 29, being 4 months and five days old at the time of death.

Besides the parents, the child is survived by two half brothers and one half sister, Clarence and Oliver Hayslip, and Lida Hayslip, at home. Funeral services will be held at the home of the parents, at two o'clock, Monday afternoon. Budd Entsminger, of the American Rescue Workers, will have charge of the services. Burial will be made at Woodland cemetery.

The Hardest Working Man in the World Has Been a Miner For Eighty Years

JAMES HAS BEEN A MINER FOR NEARLY 80 YEARS

Smoke Run, Pa., Sept. 6.—The hardest-working man in the world is going back to the mines—literally.

Eighty years of daily toil—sweating, straining toil—in the bowels of the earth has left Daniel James unable to rest.

So, after a brief, vain effort to retire, his name is on the list of those on call for duty in the Yorkshire mines of the Thomas McClynn Company, near this village.

At 86 few men show the pink of form that Daniel James displays in every action, every gesture, every word.

"Hard work has kept me young," he says. "Hard work will keep any man—or woman—young."

ROPE WALKING SECOND NATURE DECLARES MARVELOUS MILLS WHO PERFORMED IN XENIA LAST WEEK ON WIRE OVER STREET

"No, I am never scared on the high wire. I can walk the wire by instinct, without looking at it, and carry on a conversation with you on the ground, if I want to."

So says Marvellous Mills, who awed land-bound citizens twice daily during the festival last week, while they gazed heart-in-mouth as he performed feats of daring on the wire stretched three stories high above Detroit street.

Like President Harding, and other great men, Mills is an Ohio product. Born at Greenfield, Ohio, Mills now lives at Chillicothe. He is 26 years of age, and has been walking the high wire for the amusement of the multitude for five years. It is now second nature to him, he says.

PAINFULLY BURNED WHILE AT WORK

Chief Engineer, H. L. Herrick of the O. S. & S. O. Home, received painful burns at the ice plant of the institution, last Wednesday when a quantity of ammonia spurted upon him by the sudden turning on of a valve. He was given first aid at the Home hospital, for several burns about the left side of his face, forehead, shoulders and arms. He was later taken to the McClellan Hospital, where he is receiving attention. The ball of the left eye was also badly injured but it is not thought that Mr. Herrick will lose the sight of the eye.

FOUR DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Through a Neighbor's Advice This Woman Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kenosha, Wis.—"I suffered with a female trouble and at last was in bed for six weeks with what the doctors called inflammation of the bowels. Four of them said I could not live. A neighbor told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the start. When the doctor came I told him what I had taken and he said, 'Throw my medicine away and keep on with the Pinkham medicine.' I did and it cured me. If more women would take your medicine they would not suffer so. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to lots of people and they have been satisfied."—Mrs. MARY RHAFSTOCK, 2704 Wisconsin St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

When a woman is beset with such symptoms as irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, a displacement, backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or the "blues" she should treat the cause of such conditions by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the standard remedy for woman's ills.

"LOYD GEORGE, AN INTIMATE PORTRAIT"—AND CRITICISM OF ENGLAND'S COALITION GOVERNMENT.

Outside our own country, no other is attracting so much attention in the United States as England's trouble with Ireland. Probably this is owing to there being so many Irish in this country, whose sympathies naturally go out to their mother country, and is reflected broadcast. At all events the Irish questions now come in for more daily comment here than any other of the "over there" affairs.

Singular as it seems to us over here, the Prime Minister over there looms up bigger than King or Presidents, and this is the reason that Mr. Lloyd George, the Prime Minister of England, stands out as the head champion of his country in its contest with Ireland, although he had come up from the common classes, a poor little Welsh lad. So you might say, that next to President Harding, Mr. Lloyd George is today the most noted public character in the world.

Harper's Magazine for September has a fine article by Philip Gibbs, a noted English journalist and war correspondent, on "Lloyd George—an Intimate Portrait," which gives so much that is interesting about the man and English politics that we are sorry to be able to give our readers only "a taste" of the splendid article, as follows:

"Many people have had the honor of taking breakfast with Mr. Lloyd George at No. 10 Downing Street—(Come into my parlor, said the spider to the fly!) It is a most dangerous hour to those who wish to preserve a detached judgment. When I had the honor, once, of being invited to this meal, I was very watchful of the little great man and his menage, trying to get some insight into the secret quality of his genius. There was no ceremony to impress the stranger, but a homeliness and candor far more impressive. Mr. Lloyd George helped his guests to toast. Mrs. Lloyd George—a nice, homey woman—poured out the morning coffee. Miss Megan came down in a hurry, said, 'Good morning, dad!' and attacked her bacon and eggs with the joyous appetite of youth.

"One other time in the war I met Lloyd George, on a night of great honor in my life, when Robert Donald gave a dinner to me and invited many high people to the board. It was generous of the Prime Minister to come, and he was gracious and kind.

"I had to make a speech that night—an ordeal before a Prime Minister of England, and such an orator as this one. Yet I kept my courage to the sticking point for the sake of youth that was being slain so wastefully, in such tragic masses. I wanted to tell Lloyd George the things that happen on a battlefield, the things happening in Flanders, every day, every night, in all the weeks and months of days and nights, so that he should think of the war not in the abstract, not as a conflict between great powers, but in its actual drama, as a shambles of boys, and a world of human torture. I told him how a battlefield looked on the morning of battle with its dead, its stretcher bearers searching for hunks of living flesh, the 'walking wounded' crawling on the way back, falling, staggering up again, dropping again, the queues of wounded outside the casualty clearing stations, the blind boys, the men without faces, the 'shell shocks.' It was not I that was making the speech. It was the voice of the boys on the Western Front that spoke through my lips to this man who was to some extent, at least, the arbiter of their fate. So it seemed to me, speaking in a trance-like way. General Smuts was by my side, and though I had been talking with him, impressed by his clear judgment and human sympathy, I forgot him then, and all others at the table, and spoke only to Lloyd George. When I finished I was aghast at my own temerity, ashamed of the emotion with which I had spoken, but he shook my hand and spoke some words which told me that he knew and understood. . . . He understands and has great sympathy with all the suffering that the cruelty of life inflicts.

"Going away from that meal I had a glow of personal vanity. This man, holding the fate of an empire, almost the fate of the world, in his hands, had been glad to have my views. He had listened with bright, understanding eyes to my explanation of facts. He had picked up a phrase of mine and repeated it.

"Lloyd George has gone a long way from the time when he could be accused of revolutionary and subversive action, as an enemy of capital. By slow degrees, yet very surely, he was drawn over to the side of the Tory interest. More and more he surrendered to the reactionary policy, the hard materialistic outlook and rigid traditions of Conservatives like Bonar Law and A. J. Balfour, Lord Curzon, and Sir Edward Carson, and to financial Imperialists like Lord Beaverbrook, by whose underground work he had been raised to his high place. The Coalition government, founded in time of war to unite all parties in a national policy, became an assembly of tame politicians whose job was to vote solidly for any measure favored by the Prime Minister and his conservative backers—and solidly to lean their weight against any criticism or rebellion from independent members. There was no more difference between a Coalition Liberal and a Tory than between two tins of canned pork differently labeled. They were men disciplined to obey the government, to flock into the lobbies like sheep at the crack of the government 'whips,' to defend every government measure as good and holy, to attack all critics as traitors to the country. Whenever there was a by-election the Coalition Liberals were supported by the government machine, and blessed by Tory ministers of state while independent Liberals, the last of the Old Guard of English liberalism which had once been the glory of the nation, of Gladstonian tradition, were crushed by this unholy alliance.

"The Prime Minister was the architect of this new political system which has done much to deaden the spirit of Parliament and to destroy its influence."

THE WASHLADY'S COMPROMISE

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

Mr. J. P. Chew of the Gazette leaves for a couple of week's sojourn at Bay View, Michigan, where his son, W. B. Chew, and family have been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell F. Greiner and their little daughter Jane, will leave tomorrow for their home in Kansas City, after a pleasant two weeks' visit with their Xenia friends and relatives.

Mrs. T. L. Magruder and Miss Emma Davidson are anticipating a great deal of pleasure in a trip to Europe, which they expect to take. They will leave Monday for

New York, where after a few days stay they will go abroad. Miss Davidson expects to stay a year pursuing her studies in Germany.

Rev. Albert Read and family were pleasantly surprised by the members of the First Baptist church last evenings. The party was held at the Simons home on East Market street, where refreshments were served, and a happy evening enjoyed.

Officer Ben Chambliss has been taking his vacation from his duties on the police force this week and has spent the time at his home.

it fall wherever it will. It will prove such a magnet for attraction that no one will ever give a thought about your full mouth or the pug nose. In a few years your features will not be so prominent and you will then be surprised to find the flowing hair is not so essential. You are really too immature, which is the reason why you are spoiled when the hair is put up on the head.

UNEARTH PERFECT VENUS IN ANCIENT BATHS OF CYRENE

Rome.—What enthusiastic archeologists describe as the most perfect Venus hitherto come to light has just been discovered in the Thermal or Baths of Cyrene, where extensive excavations are being carried on under the direction of Professor Ghislanzoni.

The statue, somewhat larger than life-size, is in a perfect state of preservation, the lovely head and arms untouched by time and belongs to the Greco-Roman period, bearing a strong resemblance to the Venus of the Capitol. It will be remembered that another magnificent statue of Venus, unfortunately headless, was discovered a few years ago at Cyrene and is now one of the greatest treasures of the Museo delle Terme in Rome.

When Prof. Ghislanzoni saw the beautiful work of art emerging from the soil like Venus from the waves he became so excited that he shouted to the Arab workmen to put up their spades, lest they might injure the statue in the slightest detail and with eager hands proceeded to remove the millennial earth reverently, as if unveiling a goddess. Unfortunately he sustained some abrasions of the skin of the hands which became infected and for some time it was feared that he would succumb to blood poisoning.

THE HAPPY FACE.

Put on your happy face, my friend, and seek the thronging marts, and, as on sprightly limbs you wend, cheer up desponding hearts. One buoyant, cheerful, whistling chap, helps others by his mood; some delegate who sees your map may find his hope renewed. I know I've felt at divers times that life's a ten-cent game, that like a grapevine trouble climbs around the human frame. And, feeling thus, upon the fence I'd lean and shed some brine; ay, though it had no lick of sense, this dippy course was mine. And then some joyous jay appeared, with shunshine in his glim; I'd wring the briny from my beard and go and prance with him. Contagious is the cheer-up smile that happy people wear; contagious also is the bile that makes you seem a bear. Put on your happy face, old scout, and see it's rightly clamped, and as you chase yourself about you'll have the people vamped. They'll be ashamed of little griefs o'er which they used to sigh, when viewing one who never beefs as he goes whizzing by. Put on your happy face, my boy, and tie the strings behind, and try to show that life's a joy, and not a dreary grind.

A FINE GRAINED SKIN

Do you know the proper use of astringents? I am inclined to think that few women know the proper time to use them on the complexion. Most women, finding that cold cream is generally useful, are apt to overdo that cosmetic.

The skin is inclined to be oily in the summer, therefore very little cold cream is required except in special cases of wind and sunburn. About this time of the year I seem to notice an unusual number of coarse-grained oily complexions and I wonder whether the owners of them have not been using too much cold cream and not enough astringents.

One of the most invigorating astringents is salt water. It is an excellent thing to keep a jar of salt in the bathroom shelf and add a little to the water in which you wash your face. One of the best things about this astringent is that it costs practically nothing at all. Another excellent astringent, which costs practically nothing, is Tincture of Benzoin. A few drops of this added to the cold rinse water produces a milky fluid which 'draws up' the skin and makes it white and fine grained. If you wish you may keep a bottle of Tincture of Benzoin diluted with water and simply rub it into the skin after you have washed. These are the two simplest astringents. Ice is always excellent to use but sometimes hard to procure. If you use this as an astringent rub it over the skin for five or ten minutes after you have thoroughly washed the face. Plain Witch Hazel is soothing, cooling and an excellent astringent to be rubbed on the skin after washing.

H. G. S.:—You are 15 pounds overweight.

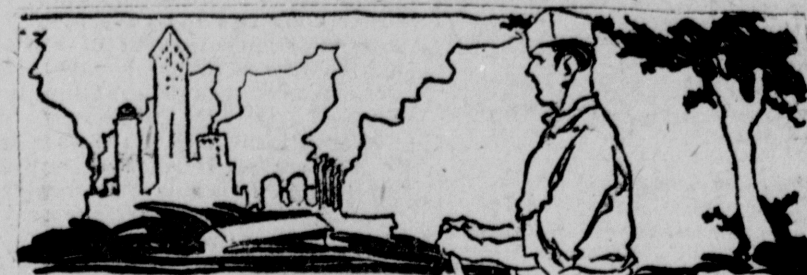

Reader:—You should massage the face every night with a good cream and use very little water until your skin has recovered from this dryness. Remove the surplus cream and close the pores with a small piece of ice rubbed over the face and

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Human Wealth LABOR DAY 1921

Wealth—what is it? Houses and lands? But houses are built by human hands: And lands are barren—or rank with weeds, Unless man tills them to meet his needs; And gold is useless, save when it buys What labor fashions what men devise. This is the wealth that the world will use— Human intellect, human thews. Without which all of our gear and gain Is dross and tinsel, is wholly vain.

Property, property! Let us hold Due respect for our lands and gold. But first comes wealth of the human kind— Lord how long shall our eyes be blind. To the truth that wealth, which we count in Men Is treasure building itself again? The hands that fashion, the brains that plan, Are making a world more fit for Man.

Labor marches—with heads held high The ranks go splendidly marching by; Labor marches—whose strength and skill Build the bridges and erect the mill, Frame the tower and burrow deep Down in the earth where the blind moles creep; Labor marches—a wealth of men Who shall make over the world again; Into the Future, out of the Past, Labor shall march to its own at last! AMERICAN WOMAN BAGS SEVEN LIONS IN AFRICAN HUNT

London.—After a six months' big game shooting and exploration expedition in the Tanganyika territory, formerly German East Africa, Mrs. Frederick Dalziel, a young American woman, is in London on her way to a quiet home life with her husband, and two daughters in New York.

During her expedition, which she made in company with Sir Charles Ross and Mr. Barnes, the African explorer, and his wife, Mrs. Dalziel included in her "bag," among a large quantity of smaller game, an elephant, a buffalo, two rhinoceroses, three hippopotamuses and seven lions.

"I went for my health, really," she said to an interviewer, "for I was compelled to lead an open air life."

Mrs. Dalziel described how she missed death by inches in an encounter with a wounded rhinoceros.

"One day," she said, "we were walking down one of the jungle tracks, almost like subway tunnels, which run from water hole to water hole, when we came on a big animal asleep. Sir Charles Ross went on ahead and fired at and wounded it, and it went crashing away into the jungle. I was some little way behind, and suddenly I heard, scarcely a yard away, the noise of the rhinoceros, which had gone round in a circle and was coming back to the track again."

"I went behind a bush, but the animal also had the same idea, and crashed right past me and caught me with its side, and I and two natives who were with me were knocked over into a thorn bush. Except for some cuts about the face, I was otherwise unhurt. Most probably the rhinoceros did not see me."

Here Sir Charles Ross broke in, saying: "There is only one thing that Mrs.

said to an interviewer, "for I was compelled to lead an open air life."

NEW COACH FOR CENTRAL HIGH IS NOW ON THE JOB

With the arrival in this city of Jerry Katherman new athletic director and coach at Central High School and the fact that school begins Tuesday morning, the job of getting the high school football campaign under way, is on.

Katherman is well known in Ohio Conference Athletic circles. He is a graduate of Ohio Northern University, where he won three letters in football and participated in basketball and baseball and has been director of intra-mural sports at the University.

The new coach played football during the seasons 1916, 1917 and 1920, the interim being the period when he served overseas with the 62nd Engineers, U. S. Army, in which outfit he participated in all athletics and served as captain of the football team.

Under the new athletics regime, the following football schedule has been arranged, consisting of five home games and four abroad, and showing that athletic relations with Washington C. H. have been resumed:

- Saturday, September 24—Washington C. H. at Washington.
- Friday, September 30—Wilmington at Xenia.
- Friday, October 7—Troy at Troy.
- Friday, October 14—West Alexandria at Xenia.
- Friday, October 21—Hillsboro at Xenia.
- Saturday, October 29—Greenfield at Xenia.
- Friday, November 4—Miamisburg at Miamisburg.
- Friday, November 11—Wilmington at Wilmington.
- Saturday, November 19—Springfield at Xenia.

A large amount of equipment for the team has been ordered and a new field will be under way within a few days. Pre-season calls for material issued by Coach Katherman, have resulted in from 30 to 35 candidates responding and with the eligible members of the Freshmen class the addition of several new players from other schools, it is believed there will be no lack of good football material to select from.

Marcus McAllister, half back on last year's eleven, is the captain of the team this fall, and under his leadership, sport enthusiasts at the school are anticipating a most successful season.

LOCAL GOLF TEAM LOSES TO DAYTON

Twelve golfers from the Xenia Country Club who invaded the McGregor links at Dayton, Sunday and met a like number of McGregor players lost 25-6.

J. E. Kelly, who headed the local team, was low man for the Xenia Club with an 85 for 18 holes and Crawford Craig and Louis Brandenburg with 95 each came next.

O'Bannon with an 83 and R. Matern with an 87, were low for the McGregor team. A return match will be played on the local links in the near future.

FORMER STATE SENATOR DIES

Cincinnati, Sept. 5.—Former State senator T. C. Jung, died Saturday in Denver, Colo., according to word received from there last night. He was a representative from Cincinnati to the Ohio general assembly in 1910 and 1912. Five years ago Mr. Jung moved to Denver because of ill health. He is survived by a wife.

GATCH FIELD WILL BE USED THIS FALL FOR FOOTBALL GAMES

According to arrangements made by athletic authorities at Central High School, the scene of local football conflicts for the coming season, again shifts to that gridiron, hallowed by memory of former contests, the so-called Gatch field on Dayton avenue.

The acquisition of the Gatch field settles the problem of finding a new athletic field, which presented itself when the Industrial Building Company of Dayton, began tearing up the site in the Dodds addition used as a football field, last year, for the purpose of erecting on the site, the new high school.

It was agreed that the field in the rear of the library formerly used was unfit for service, and as the new field given by Mr. Dodds has not been drained and levelled, and it will be some time before it can be put in shape, it was necessary to obtain another site for the coming football games.

The selection of the Gatch field will be called a happy selection by the high school alumni. The field itself has always been in admirable condition for football in its natural state. It also gives ample room for the crowds, and parking space for automobiles, and is located just off a paved street.

For years this gridiron was used by Central High for its football contests and to play again on the same oblong will undoubtedly bring many memories of by-gone contests to the

I am giving the following corn recipes for serving left-overs rather than for serving the corn fresh from garden or market stall, for I believe that most of my readers will agree with me that the most delicious way to serve fresh corn is on the cob.
Corn "Oysters". Grate the pulp from ears of cooked sweet corn and to each cupful of it allow 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoon sweet milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon melted butter, and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Mix these ingredients together and drop this batter by tablespoonfuls on a hot, greased griddle, turning each little cake so that it will brown on both sides. (A little pulp from uncooked corn adds to the flavor of these cakes.) Serve

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Delaware, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Edward Turrell, 41, Findlay, died as a result of an auto accident nine miles south of here, when the auto in which with her husband and Mrs. Whipples and two small children of Mt. Victory were riding, skidded off the road and turned turtle in a ditch.

COOLIDGE UNHURT AS STAND FALLS

Wilmington, Mass., Sept. 5.—Vice President Calvin Coolidge and ten other men escaped without injury, when a speaker's platform on which they were standing collapsed here Sunday. The Vice President, unperturbed by the mishap, climbed out of the debris, made his way to another platform and delivered the address which he had prepared for celebration of the 150th anniversary of this town.

THE NEW GENERATION

By Jane Phelps

MARGARET ASSERTS HERSELF
CHAPTER 29
"I must not evade the issue if I am to have any success asserting myself," Margaret said to herself, then smiled as she added: "I'll take the bull by the horns" as father used to say. So she asked:
"What in the world made you compare my new dress with a ghost, Joan? Don't you think it is pretty?"
"It's an awfully silly dress, and—anyway where can you wear it?" suspiciously.
"Anyway I might be asked in the evening. My wardrobe is hopeless for going anywhere. I shall get it replenished as quickly as possible. We will want to go somewhere this vacation, and I must have suitable clothes."
"I don't like you in such things." The decision in the young voice would have been laughable in anyone but Joan.
"I'm sorry, dear. I prefer you should like what I wear. But I allow you to select your own colors and I make your things to please you. I surely shall take the same privilege for myself."
"But what I can't understand is why you want to look and dress young all of sudden?" Again suspicion tinged her voice.
"Perhaps I have just awakened to the fact that I am young."
"Why, you're old. You're my mother, and I'm almost 15."
"Yes, dear, I am your mother. But I was married very young. I am nearly 35, still a young woman, too young to be put upon a shelf." She smiled engagingly at her daughter whose eyes were bent resentfully upon her. "It isn't only in my clothes that I am going to pick up a part of my youth, make the most of the next few years. I am going to have some fun out of life."
"Fun!" Joan fairly gasped. Was this her quiet middle-aged mother talking of having fun... She didn't even say 'good times' but fun! She must have suddenly gone out of her right mind.
"Why do you look at me like that?" Margaret repressed a smile.
"Because—oh, never mind." And as she had done once before, Joan threw herself on the couch and cried bitterly.
Before Margaret had given in to Joan's grief, given up all her plans. Now although she ached to comfort the sobbing girl, she went quietly on with her sewing—a dainty frock she was making for Joan.
For a long time Joan sobbed industriously. Then as Margaret paid not the slightest attention the sobs gradually grew less in violence, then ceased altogether, although the girl continued to weep softly.
Finally she jerked herself upright. "Wipe your eyes and get ready for dinner. It is nearly time," Margaret remarked without looking up.
"You aren't a bit like my Mumsie anymore," Joan pouted as she rose from the couch.
"I don't want to be dear. I don't intend to be. I have been a stupid, stay-at-home just as long as I mean to be. From now on I expect to enjoy myself. With you if possible, without you if I must—because of your actions. I never shall compel you to do for me, or with me, anything to which you object; neither shall I allow your foolish objections to influence me. Now run along. Hannah has something you like for dinner."
With lagging steps Joan left the room. This was in truth, a new Mumsie, this woman who talked to her in that way. But Joan had learned, among other self-acquired truths, to be fair. For the first time she dimly realized that perhaps her mother was right, perhaps it was her own business how she dressed, what she did. But it was dimly—the resentment was still uppermost. "She talked about having fun just like Hortense and all the girls talk," Joan soliloquized as she went slowly up the stairs to her room. "She talked like a kid and she's—35!" Her tone awe-struck.

But while she brushed the golden halo about her face the thoughts lingered that perhaps she had been unfair.
"I'd hate to have anyone unfair to me. I wouldn't stand it! Maybe—I wonder—if I knew she didn't want that Forrester man around! But perhaps she bought the dress to put on for him to see her look young in—if I thought that I would tear it up!" Joan declared viciously just as Margaret called.
"Coming, Joan?"
"Yes, Mumsie."

WAKED 'EM UP

St. Louis, Mo.—Here's a hint for a song entitled "Come Out of Your Lethargy, Baseball Fans." Give part of the credit to Umpire O'Connell of the American League.

The Browns and Washingtons were lagging along through the slowest game of the season here, O'Connell stopped the game, discarded his mask, stepped to the front of the grandstand and yawned longingly, stretching thoroughly at the same time.

"That's the way the game is running," he shouted to the players. "If the fans in the grand stand are not asleep, by Jimmy, its not your fault."

The players came out of their lethargy.

How Far Do Your Tire Dollars Travel?

Do you insist on a big measure of mileage for every dollar you spend for tires? Do you carefully figure the return on your investment?

We do. Before we recommend a tire to a customer, there's one thing we know in advance—that every dollar he spends will deliver him long, satisfactory tire service. That's why we urge you to invest your money in

Dayton Tires

Pneumatic Thorobreds
Cords Fabrics

No tire we have ever seen can measure up to a Dayton. No tread is so tough, resilient, strong and wear-resisting. No carcass is so perfectly built. And no tire is so beautifully finished. If you own a big car or a little one, delivery car or sedan, Dayton Tires will give you real, intrinsic worth for your money—your tire dollars will travel farther than in any other tire in which you could invest them.

For the good of your bank account, let us tell you more about Dayton's.

Dayton Tubes hold air better than any tubes made—because they're the smoothest, finest, thickest, toughest tubes you can buy. Ask us to let you feel one.
